Guardian Gilliland Was Removed

JUDGE LINDSAY ADMINISTERS A FIERCE ROAST—SAYS HE OUGHT TO BE PUNISHED CRIMINALLY.

R. L. Gilliland was today removed as guardian of Aplo. In removing the guardian the court took occasion to administer a most scathing rebuke. It appears that about three years ago an unsuccessful attempt was made by an attorney, who has since died, to force Gilliland to file a statement of accounts. Recently E. C. Peters, the Attorney General, took up the matter and had presented a petition asking for the removal of the guardian. But Judge Lindsay did not remove the guardian on motion of Peters, but of his own volition, went after Gilliland. In passing on the matter, the court said:

"It seems to me to be inconceivable that a man of the intelligence of Mr. Gilliland should act as he has done in this case. I can not work up any sympathy for a guardian who has been so negligent in the conduct of his ward's affairs. The record shows that for some seventeen years he has been guardian of this estate and he has filed no accounts, notwithstanding the efforts of an attorney, who is now dead, to have him file such accounts. To say the least and I want Mr. Gilliland to listen especially to this, I think that his acts in this case have been disgraceful, and it is too bad he can not be punished criminally, and to come in and say that it was the negligence of the ward—if there has been any negligence it should accrue to the irresponsible and negligent guardian—is to put up an absurdity. If she had been negligent that would in no wise excuse him. I do not know from the records in the case that I would feel safe in charging compound interest, but the court will charge him with interest at the legal rate, that is, the legal rate that existed during the different periods in which he has been guardian, to date, on the sum of $290.35; that is the court will allow a reasonable time, six months, in which he should have invested the ward's money, and charge him with interest on $290.35 from the 6th day of March, 1891. In view of his negligence in all the premises, no commission shall be allowed him.

"The court of its own motion orders Mr. Gilliland discharged from the position as guardian in the estate and orders him to turn the funds of the ward into the court immediately, forthwith, after having surcharged him with these sums of commissions $8.07, and charged him with interest as above indicated by the court."

W. C. Aehl, attorney for Gilliland, gave notice of appeal to the Supreme Court.

GRAND JURY IS HAVING EASY TIME

HAS THUS FAR CONSIDERED ONLY COMMITTEE CASES—SESSION MAY DEVELOP LATER.

The Grand jury will not meet for some days. Practically nothing but some ordinary committee cases, have been considered by the body, thus far. From present indications the grand jury will have an easy task before it, as no very startling matters are to be presented.

However, it is understood that a certain transaction, of an administrative character, may be brought before the grand jury, for possible inquiry. Should the jury take up the matter, there might be some interesting developments in the way of a report.
